About Mind

Mind Australia is a leading provider of community mental health services. We support our clients to live independent, productive and satisfying lives. Underpinning our work is a belief that it is possible for everyone to have a rich and meaningful life, including people with severe and persistent mental health issues. We also offer services for families and carers.

Personalised Support Services

Mind Australia works to support people in their personal recovery from mental ill-health.

Some of the areas that people need help in could be:

- Managing the effects of mental ill-health
- Improving physical health
- Finding and/or keeping a job, or returning to education
- Building new friendships, and joining local activities
- Developing living skills such as cooking or managing money
- Addressing drug and alcohol use
- Finding suitable housing

The type and extent of services offered to an individual varies, depending on what they need and what else is available in the local community.

Family & Caretaker Services

Mind Australia recognises the importance of families in the lives of many of our clients. We provide support to families that include a person with mental health issues.

Group Support Services

Group Support Services provide opportunities for involvement activities in the general community. Groups are a place where clients can meet other people, develop friendships, give and receive peer support and learn new skills. Contact Mind’s service centre, to get information about group support services and where they are run.

Youth Residential Service

Mind provides services to young people aged 16-25 through our main service types. This includes support for young people who have experienced a mental illness or who may be a family member or friend of someone who has a mental illness. The residential experience enables people to work on their personal recovery and optimise their capacity to live independently in the community.

The following service is provided in your area:

- Residential Service - Wannik Gunyah,
  Traralgon on (03) 5176 1800

How to access the service

Referrals process is usually initiated by telephone. Enquiries can be made to the service by a Mental Health Service, self-referral, a family member, friend or worker.

An assessment interview will be conducted to gain understanding of the person’s needs and eligibility.
